

Comments received via <http://www.seattle.gov/municipaljail/questions.htm>
for January 5, 2009

Name: Kambiz Rahimi

City: Bellevue

The Bellevue site makes no sense to me. This area is too close to the city center with huge growth potential. This area will be needed for future transportation hubs since it is so centrally located among the population centers to the north, south, and east.

Name: Mark Nunes

City: Bellevue

I am concerned about the proposed Bellevue site for the new regional jail. The location is in a prime business area and would have significant negative impact on the surrounding businesses. Additionally, the site will have the future trail on the converted burlington train tracks adjacent to it. This will be heavily used by the public and the safety of users may be jeopardized by the locaiton of the jail. The facility at Monroe has demonstrated that these facilities are better suited in a more rural environment.